F. V. Clayton,
Co. Supt. of Education.

The Calhoun-Clemson School patrons are now circulating a petition for the purpose of increasing their compulsory attendance period from four months to nine months. This is one of the most progressive steps taken by any school district in Pickens County. Every school who is vitally interested in the betterment of their boys and girls should take the same step.

This same school has also this year been made into a high school. The people of Calhoun-Clemson are to be congratulated on this interest and their progressiveness, and should feel proud to set an example for the other school districts of the county to follow.

The patrons of the Ambler school are requested to meet the Supt. of Education at their school house Sept. 23rd at 8:00 P. M. Questions pertaining to their school will be discussed, and it is hoped that every patron interested in their school will be on hand.

Twelve hundred was received from the Department of Education of South Carolina last week for the Negro School Building in the city of Easley. The State Department of Education received annually $73,000.00 from Rosenwald a member of the Sears & Roebuck Firm, for the aiding of Negro school buildings. It is hoped that Pickens will receive more of this money from time to time.

In the near future a Teachers Association will be organized and a regular course of study will be arranged for the benefit of the teachers, who wish to improve themselves and be more able to give to their work 100 per cent of the good that is in them.

Mr. W. P. Long a resident of the Twelve Mile school District is one of Pickens Counties most progressive thinkers when it comes to devising ways and means of making a living. Mr. Long does not depend absolutely on his corn or cotton crop for support, neither does he depend upon his hay crop, or the number of pigs he can raise. He believes in diversifying. Besides his cotton and corn, and other things that he raises, you will find his orchard occupying a very prominent place.

You have read the Holy writ of there being twelve kinds of fruit upon one tree, well this has almost come true in the case of Mr. Long. If you should visit his orchard you would first be impressed with the Plum and Peach growing on the same tree. Next of interest you would see apples, pears, and peaches on the same tree.

Mr. Long's orchard will do any man good to see it. It shows that we in Pickens County have a wonderful opportunity to leave off the planting of so much cotton and turn our energies into other channels that will prove as beneficial.

To give the reader an idea of just how this is accomplished and also a detailed idea of just what is done we submit the following:

Mr. Long secured a wild apple tree known as the Ball Mt. and has budded on this tree the Baulding apple. This gives a funny appearance to see a small seedling apple beside a large beautiful apple.

Another tree he secured in the mountains just a seedling apple tree, and on this tree he has grafted and budded four kinds of apples, namely, the Kansas Black, Baulding Red, Sheep Nose, and the Ben Davis Light Red.

Also he has a Wild Sweet Apple tree which grows the Howard apple. Besides these mentioned he has the old original Sheep Nose, and almost every variety of apple that you can imagine.

The farmers of Pickens county should make a visit to Mr. Long's orchard and get an idea of what can be. Still another tree, a common Horse Apple tree, bears two varieties of the Sheep Nose apple. This is a very beautiful specimen of this kind of work.

Cotton is not the only way we have to make a living. Let us change things around and have a variety, so when one crop fails we will have another upon which we can depend.

H. P. Sifton, Jr., has just received the following message: "Branch telegraphic reports indicate daily retail sales for Ford cars and trucks increased fifty per cent the first week since price reductions with corresponding reductions in dealers' stocks. Marked shortages, particularly of the enclosed types of cars, are already being felt in many sections. Unfilled orders for all types of Ford cars and trucks are rapidly accumulating as production has not been increased over the regular monthly schedule of 100,000 cars."

What Does A Newspaper Owe to Its Readers?

(From The Whitefish, Mont., Pilot)

The relation of a newspaper to its readers is one that at times is worth thinking about. Is it purely a business relation in which the subscriber pays so much per year for the paper and the publisher contracts to give in his news columns accounts of pink teas and lemonade socials, or that Mrs. Jones took dinner with Mrs. Brown, and Smith's baby has the mumps? Or does not the average publisher expect to give more than is included in a normal business relation? And doesn't the reader expect more? If it was a pure business relation—a matter of dollars and cents—the average publisher would charge more per annum for a subscription. Eliminating everything but news, few, if any, of the numerous publishers of the country could supply the paper at anything like the usual charge per year. We fancy that the average publisher likes to think of his readers as all comprising one big family having many things in common and who feel that when they receive the paper each issue that they are getting more than the two or three cents that it costs them. We are inclined to think that between the average paper and its average reader there is a relation that is beyond and above a pure business relation. The paper should give that which passes as current news, to be sure, but over and above this it must give a community service that cannot be measured in dollars. It must stand for the best that is in the community. It must have courage to condemn, as well as courage to commend. A paper to command respect cannot be spineless. It must have a code and abide by that code. If it is a real paper its readers will respect it if they do not always agree with it. A paper's great asset is a list of readers who respect it. A town's greatest asset is a paper that its readers respect. A paper must be honest, and as far as humanly possible it should be impartial. A paper that does not have the confidence of its readers is incapable as a community spokesman. A paper that is run for revenue alone cannot long maintain the respect of its readers. These are some of the things that a paper owes to its readers. Sometimes, stop and think what you, as a reader, owe to the paper, not in dollars, but in a way that is bigger than dollars.

MEETING OF INTEREST TO FORMER FURMAN STUDENTS.

An invitation to every man in Pickens county who has at any time attended Furman University for any length of time, to attend a rally of Furman men in Pickens on the night of Monday, September 26th, has been issued by the Rev. F. T. Cox.

The object of the meeting of former students and alumni of Furman University is to afford the new executive secretary of the Furman University Alumni Association, L. M. Glenn, an opportunity to meet the Furman men residing in Pickens county. Mr. Glenn will seek to organize while in Pickens a Furman Club of Pickens county, members to consist of former students as well as graduates of the institution, all Baptist pastors in the county and fathers of boys now attending the college. The meeting will be purely of a social nature, that is, no collection will be taken or subscriptions taken.

Furman clubs are to be organized throughout the state and in practically every county above Columbia. Pickens county is to be the second county organized under the new order of the alumni association. These clubs are desired for the purpose of enrolling every man who has ever attended Furman University. Names of former students and graduates will be gathered and facts concerning them collected. These short sketches will then be published in book form, and one of these rosters presented to every man who has at any time in the past attended the institution. Much valuable and interesting data will be contained in this roster of Furman men.

The meeting next Monday night will be brief, and it is hoped that there will be a large number of Furman men out for the occasion.
